CONGRESSIONAL.

SENATE, Dec. 3.—Immediately after the reading of the journal, a message was received from the House announcing the organization of that body. The President's message was received and was read by Secretary of the Senate McCook. It was listened to with close attention. The reading occupied an hour and twenty-five minutes. On motion of Mr. Sherman, the message was laid on the table and ordered printed and the Senate adjourned.

HOUSE.—At the conclusion of the reading of the journal, the President's message was received and read by the clerk. But little attention was paid to the reading of the message, which consumed nearly two hours. The message was ordered printed and referred to the Committee of the Whole. Under authority given by the last Sunday Civil Appropriation bill, the Speaker appointed Messrs. Bayne, Hill, Carter, Culberson, of Texas, and Cummings as a committee on the centennial celebration. The House then adjourned until the 5th.

SENATE, Dec. 4.—Messrs. Pierce and Casey, the new Senators from North Dakota, were sworn in. Mr. Hoar's resolution providing a mode for ascertaining by lot the classes to which the Senators from the three new States—North Dakota, South Dakota and Washington—shall be assigned (as to their respective terms of service) was agreed to and the drawing by lot was proceeded with, resulting as follows: Mr. Squire, from the State of Washington, was assigned to the class of Senators whose term expires March 3, 1893; South Dakota—Senator Moody, March 3, 1891, and Mr. Pettigrew, March 3, 1893; North Dakota—Senator Pierce, March 3, 1891, and Mr. Casey, March 3, 1893. Most of the day's session was devoted to the introduction of bills, the number presented being 600, many of them measures which had failed to become laws during the last Congress. Among the number were the following: Declaring trusts and combinations in restraint of trade and production unlawful; to make and alter regulations as to the times, places and manner of holding elections for Representatives in Congress; for the free carriage of silver; to refund the direct taxes under the act of 1861; to perpetuate the National banking system; to increase the efficiency of the army; to prohibit objectionable foreign emigration; to relieve the railway mail service from the operation of the Civil Service law. After a brief executive session the Senate adjourned.

HOUSE.—The House was not in session. SENATE, Dec. 5.—After the introduction and reference of a number of bills, Mr. Reagan addressed the Senate in advocacy of his bill for the repeal of so much of the third section of the act of 1875 as provides for the sale of bonds so as to produce a reserve for the redemption of legal tender notes. Mr. Ingalls was elected president pro tem. of the Senate during the absence of the Vice President, and the Senate then adjourned until the 9th.

HOUSE.—The Speaker laid before the house a communication from J. P. Leedom, late Sergeant-at-Arms of the House, stating that C. E. Elliott, cashier in his office, had absconded, leaving his accounts $75,000 short. A resolution was passed authorizing the Speaker to appoint a select committee of seven members to investigate the accounts of the office and report to the House. The following were named the committee: Adams, Stewart, Vermont, Payne, Reed of Iowa, Holmes, Blount and Henshall. The Speaker then appointed the following committee: On Rules—The Speaker, McKinley, Cannon, Carlisle and Randall; on Accounts—Spooner, Boothman, Kelly of Kansas, McCord, Hancher, Hayes, Grimes, Lee and Kerr; on Enrolled Bills—Kennedy of Pennsylvania, Moore of New Hampshire, Kilgore and Williams. The House then adjourned until the 9th.
